

Eden Brukman, LEED® AP, Reg Arch

An architect and sustainable building advisor, Eden has focused her professional career on incorporating socially and environmentally responsible strategies into design and construction. Since 2005, her work expanded to also include research and implementation of sustainable policies, particularly related to building certification using the LEED rating system and the selection of appropriate building materials. Eden received a bachelor's degree in architecture from the University of California, Berkeley, and a Master's degree in Illustration from the Edinburgh College of Art in Scotland. In joining Cascadia, Eden is looking forward to connecting with other enthusiasts, both at her formal workplace and in the extended community.